Content that Works for You

Capturing your organization's documents and data has never been easier; SMRTR can help you translate content into information that is accessible, timely, meaningful, and supports the way you work.

HOW WE DO IT

Organizations rely on SMRTR to intelligently and automatically capture content such as documents and data; transforming them into usable information. Content may be in the form of a database file, electronic or hard copy document, web or mobile forms such as contracts, invoices, statements, purchase orders, client communications and much more.

Once captured, information can be automatically distributed to you and shared with others. Our powerful workflow solution provides web and mobile forms to initiate critical business processes or simply capture a document to initiate the workflow. Work can be routed for review, collaboration or approval. Task lists and dashboards help employees organize their day while providing oversight and analytics to management.

Let us help your organization take control of the most tedious tasks or entire business processes. Transforming your business through automation and making information readily available leads to more knowledgeable employees and better decisions.
